Police Hindered Men Trying to Save Engineer's Life.

RAILROAD EMPLOYEES TESTIFY

They Assert That Officers Before Trial Board Prevented Prompt Use of Jack on Engine Beneath Which Engineer Murphy Was Pinned, Hearing to Be Resumed To-day.

Testimony before the police trial board in the case of Capt. Matthews and Lieut. Mulhall, of the Fourth precinct, charged with obstructing the work of rescue of Engineer Hugh S. Murphy, resumed at the First precinct police station yesterday morning. A number of railroad employees testified that the officers on trial kept uniformed railroad men back, and in every way possible prevented the work of rescuing Murphy being carried on in the quickest and most successful manner.

The witnesses declared that Matthews and his lieutenant kept six or eight railroad men from getting to the man under the engine with jacks, which would have saved his life. V. M. Ackers, 318 South Capitol street, a flagman, said that he was prevented from searching for the yardmaster to get orders after he had been sent by Conductor Ryan, his superior in the crew. Night Assistant Yardmaster Frank G. Stewart declared he was pushed away by the police captain, but that he had no more trouble after Matthews had been informed that he was supposed to have charge of the wreck train.

Compelled to Stop Work.

Hutchins explained that one could operate any size jack to its capacity and over, and the toy engines introduced the previous day were used to show the board how that could be done, and also to explain details in connection with the rescue work. Details of the accident were related by Gerry B. Epley, who lives on Maryland avenue about a hundred yards from the scene of the wreck. He testified that he and another man had got a jack off the overturned locomotive, and were working with it when compelled by the police to stop and get outside the lines.

Fred Bloomer, a member of the wreck crew, testified that with the power available the derrick would not have raised more than forty tons.

"But," he said, "it would not have required much power to tilt an engine as that one lay. We raised the engine about eighteen inches to get Murphy out."

The disputed question about the cab being wrecked off the engine was settled by the witness, who declared that the steel cab was hit into which Murphy was finally rescued and that the cab was torn off afterward when the engine was righted. Illustrating with the toy engines, Bloomer said that one of Murphy's legs came through a window of the cab, and the other more tightly pinned under the steel shell.

At the close of Bloomer's testimony the board adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

STREETS IN BAD SHAPE.

Heavy Rains Make Plenty of Work for Cleaning Department.

The heavy rains of the past ten days have left the city's streets in an unusually bad condition for this season of the year. Commissioner West yesterday stated that a force of 225 laborers and twenty-five wagons is at work in the sections cleaned by hand, while at night the force consists of seven sprinklers, twenty-four sweeping machines, fifty-six laborers, thirty-seven carts, and fifteen wagons. The amount of dirt and leaves taken from the streets in the last two days aggregated 632 loads, a total almost double the normal figures. Superintendent Twohey, of the street sweeping department, explained this yesterday by saying that this year the bulk of the leaves has fallen from the trees within the past ten days.

The co-operation of the police department in cleaning the streets has been secured. Maj. Sylvester reported to the Commissioners yesterday that there had been more than thirty arrests during the last thirty days of persons violating the regulations regarding the throwing of waste paper in the streets and alleys.

Mud Must Stay on Walks.

R. J. Panabaker, of 3573 Tenth street, has directed the attention of the Commissioners to the condition of the sidewalk on Tenth street, between Monroe and O Sts. streets, stating that on the east side of Tenth street the mud is ankle deep, and not only very disagreeable, but dangerous. C. B. Hunt, engineer of high ways, says the Commissioners are without authority to remove mud from the sidewalks, and suggests that the police department be instructed to take such action as is practicable under the regulations.

Bread Is Full Weight.

Maj. Sylvester yesterday submitted a report to the Commissioners, stating that a recent inspection was made of a dozen bakeries by a member of the police department and the assistant sealer of weights and measures, and the weight of bread issued was found to be satisfactory. A number of anonymous complaints have been received by the Commissioners declaring that the bread issued by certain bakeries was below required weight.

Cannot Improve Street Now.

In a letter to the Commissioners, Mrs. Mamie E. Vernon, of 391-393 Irving street northwest, asks that action be taken to remedy the existing condition of Irving street, between Brightwood avenue and Soldiers' Home, which, she states, is without street lamps or sidewalks. Owning to extensive hauling, the street, she says, is in such bad condition as to be of little use to pedestrians at night. A special appropriation is necessary before the improvement of this street can be made.

Can't Get Into Church Easily.

In response to a letter from the trustees of the Fifth M. E. Church, complaining of the difficulty in gaining ingress to the church, owing to the changes in grade of the Bowen road, the writers have been informed by the Commissioners that because of the changes in the grading of a street it is not incumbent on the District to adjust the entrances to private property.

Six Dollars for Stopping Runaway.

Patrol Driver William F. Walker, by order of the Commissioners, will be permitted to keep a reward of $6 presented to him by George W. Engle for stopping a runaway horse. The order is made on the recommendation of Maj. Sylvester.

COOPE'S APPOINTMENT LEGAL.

Upheld by Adjt. Gen. Brett, of the District Guard.

Those officers of the First Regiment, D. C. N. G., who have been ordered against the appointment of Capt. Harry Coope by Col. Charles L. Orand, as regimental adjutant, vice Capt. Leroy W. Herron, resigned, seem to have placed themselves in an embarrassing position, for it is evident that Col. Orand's action will be upheld by his superiors.

When Col. Brett, adjutant general for the District, was asked concerning the matter yesterday, that official said: "I will simply call your attention to the law on the matter. There are sections 19 and 20 of an act providing for the organization of the militia of the District of Columbia, approved March 1, 1887."

The sections referred to read as follows: "Section 19—The officers shall be appointed by the President of the United States."

"Section 20—The staff officers of a regiment or battalion shall be nominated by the permanent committee of the militia, and that would seem to dispose of the matter," said Col. Brett. "The first duty of a soldier, be he officer or private, is to obey the orders of his superior. I can say for Col. Orand that the appointment of his adjutant is a personal matter which concerns himself. Capt. Coope is an excellent officer and is specially well qualified to fill the duties of regimental adjutant."

Maj. S. Porter, in speaking of Capt. Coope, said that it was not fair to class him as an outsider, he having performed over ten years' actual service in the militia and only severed his connection with that body last May.

WILL WATCH LEGISLATORS

Henry B. Needham Tells of Purpose of People's Lobby.

Will Keep Card Index and Help the Congressmen as Much as People by Nonpartisan Work.

Henry Beach Needham, temporary secretary of the governing committee of the People's Lobby, expressed himself at some length yesterday as to the aims and expectations of that organization. "Of course," said he, "you know that it is our primary intention to keep watch over the actions of all national legislators, and to put our reports in such shape that the people at large may easily secure any information desired as to the position assumed or the action taken or not taken by any official on any question."

"I do not mean," he continued, "that the People's Lobby is to hold an ax over the heads of legislators. But our reports will show where to lay praise as well as blame. It has been said that all this may be found in the Congressional Record. Possibly, but how great a percentage of the people ever see a copy of the Record? And when they have one, how are they to proceed to gain information on any particular subject?"

"Now, we propose to establish and maintain a card index, which will give us all wished-for information constantly at our finger ends. Besides, the Congressional Record contains only the narration of events that occur on the floor of the House or Senate, and every one knows that most of the work done by our national legislators is done in committee."

When asked how the lobby proposes to secure information as to what goes on in committee meetings, Mr. Needham said that, perhaps, it is not so distant from what all committee work will be done in public.

"It is possible, too," he added, "that our work will eventually extend to the various departments. One thing, however, you may emphasize, and that is that the work of the lobby will be entirely nonpartisan. As a matter of fact, there is a great deal of legislation, and most important legislation, that is the least of it, that is done in the executive branch of the government. There are excellent arguments to be advanced both for and against many measures—the educational clause of the proposed immigration bill, for instance."

Asked how the committee proposes to make public its reports, Mr. Needham replied: "We expect to rely largely upon the newspapers, the press correspondents, and other means of publication. Of course in order to do this, we realize that we must give our reports a real news value. In other words, we have got to deliver the goods."

"But do not mistake me; we do not propose to introduce sensationalism in the least degree into our work. Not a bit of it. And we also expect to become of great aid to the legislators themselves by providing them with statistics, facts and figures, and history, such as they may desire for their own information and guidance."

Americans Poor Linguists.

Consul Paul Nash, of Venice, is the authority for the statement that not one-tenth of the Americans visiting Europe can speak intelligently in any other language than their own. This he attributes to the methods of teaching the romance languages in our schools and colleges. He says that in the majority of American institutions are calculated, he says, to give one an appreciable knowledge of foreign tongues and their literary value rather than a speaking knowledge of the language. He says, results from the teaching of the continental languages such as Latin and Greek are taught without regard for the differences of the objects in view.

Many Attend Holcombe Funeral.

A large number of friends attended the funeral of Charles B. Holcombe at his residence on G street on Wednesday at 6 o'clock. Rev. Walter Brooks officiated at the services, and the interment was in Glenwood Cemetery. Mr. Holcombe was a clerk in the railway mail service for twenty-five years, and his death on Monday was much lamented by his employers.

DECRIES NEGRO AGITATORS

Mrs. Terrell Warns Her People to Beware of Them.

Defends Her Own Action in Voting for the Dismissal of Cardozo, Her Former Pupil.

Mrs. Mary C. Terrell, member of the board of education, is indignant over the manner in which local negro agitators are handling the question of the dismissal of President P. C. Cardozo. Mrs. Terrell denounced the course, and accused them of "hoodwinking" the ignorant members of their race.

"It is very unfortunate that a number of colored people in this city are trying to make a false construction of the action of the board in removing Mr. Cardozo, and endeavoring to make others believe that his removal is an injustice to the whole colored race," she said. "The race question never enters into the action of the school board."

"Dr. Cardozo has been very just in this matter. The best colored people in the city have the greatest confidence in Dr. Cardozo, and know that it is his earnest desire to secure for colored, as well as white, schools the best teachers that he can."

"Why don't these so-called helpers of the people really do something for them, instead of setting them worked up in a rage over a fancied wrong? Why don't they give the collections that are taken up at these meetings to the poor and needy of their race, instead of squandering it on themselves and letting the poor ignorant people suffer?"

"I am condemned because, it is said, that I cast my vote for the dismissal of a member of my race, and had considered the case of Mr. Cardozo very carefully, and whom do you think that I was bound to support, Dr. Channell or Mr. Cardozo, who had been charged with disloyalty to his superior officer, and, in fact, practically admitted before the board that he was guilty of the offenses charged against him?"

"I felt very sorry for the poor man, I assure you. I had him as a pupil in my class in the public schools, and later in a private class. You see that I knew him very well. When I came to the school board, I had the first information under whom I taught was Dr. Cardozo, the father of the man now in question."

Mrs. Terrell is grieved that her action has been termed disloyal. She has for the past fifteen years devoted her life to the upbuilding of the moral and educational standards of her people. She has successfully established "neighborhood houses" in certain parts of the city, for the care of mothers and their children and for young negro women.

TO SOLVE RACE PROBLEM.

Vagrant Law and Mounted Constabulary Needed for Negro Bruties.

William H. Council, the president of the Agricultural Mechanical College, at Normal, Ala., is one of the very ablest negroes in the country. The institution of which he is the head is located in North Alabama, where it is located, has turned out a larger proportion of reputable and well-trained young negroes than any other in the South, not excepting the Booker Washington Institute at Tuskegee. Yet the Council School has been without the generous aid given it by rich men in the North, which has been the good fortune of the Tuskegee school, and its principal has employed no other means to advertise it than the living product of his instruction and training.

The views of such a man, highly respected, and cordially admired in the community in which he has lived and worked for the past twenty-five years, should be worth heeding. He has just said of the Negro's moral condition:

"The negro brute, for whose atrocious crimes every honest negro hangs his head in shame, and whose punishment is never too severe, is not the product of the negro. He is the head of the monster, in our schools, our churches, and none of our saving and exalted influences can reach him. Our black arms are too short. The long Anglo-Saxon arms only can reach him. We make no laws, we construe no laws, and we execute no laws. No board of aldermen, no judge or jury would establish saloons on the recommendation of negroes. This negro habit of a product of the white man's gambling habits, low dives, and saloons, where he is debauched, brutalized, and licensed to go through the land a drunken brute, to commit crimes upon his fellow men, is a wisely constructed, impartially administered vagrant law, with a mounted constabulary, and in five years every one of these Godless creatures will be driven from the land at his own expense and shame than the cost of mobs in one week."

DISCUSS RACE PROBLEM.

Question Taken Up at Negro Baptist Evangelical Convention.

The discussion on the subject, "Will the gospel of Christ and the white man solve the race problem?" was not taken up at yesterday's session of the Negro Baptist Evangelical Convention, as was expected.

The address on the subject to be delivered by Rev. E. N. Daniels, D. D., of New York City, that was to have opened the discussion, was carried over until to-day. Due to the small attendance at yesterday's session, the subject was postponed to to-day. Church, 788 O street northwest, the address on "Home Missions" was carried over to the afternoon session.

After dinner, in the church, the evening session was called to order at 7:20 by the Rev. Solomon Pollard. Prayer meeting was conducted by Brother James McDowell and Brother Randolph Correll. At 8 o'clock Rev. Dr. Drew, president of the convention, took the chair, and Rev. William Perry, D. D., of New Jersey, pastor of St. Paul's Church, delivered the missionary sermon. An address on the "Dist and present of the negro" was made by Col. Gies B. Jackson, of Richmond, Va., director general of the Negro exhibit. A number of others made addresses on the same subject, and the meeting adjourned.

Must Pay Their Debts.

At the Government Printing Office it was said yesterday that an order had been issued instructing the employees to look after their financial standing, complaints having reached the authorities that members of the force are generally in arrears in payment of debts. Officials stated that every such complaint reaching them will be rigidly investigated and the employee warned, if the case demands it. If the matter is not then remedied, the offending person will be dismissed, as one employee was yesterday.

Pocketbook Snatcher Convicted.

Ernest Parker, a negro, in Criminal Court No. 1, yesterday was found guilty of robbery. Justice Stafford remanded the prisoner for sentence. It was shown that on June 19 Parker snatched a pocketbook from Mrs. Laura Parkinson, on Fairmount street northwest. The pocketbook contained $7.55.

Wants to Keep His Chickens.

Regarding the proposed regulation banishing chickens from the residential sections of the city, the Commissioners yesterday received a letter from Leonard C. Gannell, 1515 Twenty-eighth street, asking that the regulation be so framed as to permit the keeping of chickens in inclosed pens on open lots.

MISSIONARIES PAY RESPECTS.

President Receives Visit from Catholic Workers Among Indians.

An interesting delegation of Catholic missionaries called on the President at the White House Wednesday afternoon to pay their respects. They were introduced by Rev. Father William H. Ketcham, director of the Bureau of Catholic Indian Missions, in Washington.

The delegation included Father Alber Negahueque, a full-blooded Pottawatomie Indian from Oklahoma, a student at the Apostolic Mission House near the Catholic University; Domingo Dikt, of Phippsburg, from Phippsburg, who is about to return to the Philippines after having completed a course of four years' study in Maryland and Pennsylvania; Rev. J. O'Horo, of Parker, S. D.; Rev. Vander As, of Kingfisher, Oklahoma; and Rev. Father Vincent, a Benedictine monk from Sacred Heart Abbey, Oklahoma. Fathers O'Horo, Vander As, and Vincent are also students at the Apostolic Mission House, which trains missionaries for the conversion of non-Catholics to Roman Catholicism.

Other interesting members of the delegation were three young Belgian brothers who were Catholic priests. They are Rev. Joseph Van Hulse, of Munkogee; Rev. Charles Van Hulse, of Vinita, and Rev. Theophile Van Hulse, of Indian Territory. They belong to a family of six brothers, four of whom have entered the priesthood, and are on their way from a visit in Belgium to their posts as missionaries among the Cherokee and Cree tribes of the Indian Territory.

REBUTS DOCTOR'S TESTIMONY.

John B. Dahlgren Shows Significance of Dr. Castell's Deposition.

Inaccuracies in the published statements regarding the Colton will contest pointed out yesterday by John B. Dahlgren, who is a non-inventor of the late Mrs. Ellen M. Colton. Mr. Dahlgren, with the other heirs is opposing the efforts of Siegfried Sacher to have the will set aside for the benefit of his daughter, who is a great-granddaughter of Mrs. Colton.

In commenting on the depositions taken in New York, Mr. Dahlgren said: "Certain statements published in regard to the Colton will case are not correct. The deposition of Dr. Castell, taken in New York last Monday to rebut the testimony of the plaintiff's witnesses, Dr. Sowers and Mitchell, and the nurse, Miss Cox, show that he was called to Washington by Mrs. Dahlgren to confer with these two physicians; that Drs. Sowers and Mitchell had decided upon an operation and had prescribed treatment for Mrs. Colton, which Dr. Castell did not believe necessary."

"Dr. Castell also stated that he asked Dr. Mitchell to cease his visits, as surgical intervention was not necessary. Mrs. Colton's case, and that he requested Dr. Sowers to cease his visits as soon as he could do so."

"Drs. Sowers and Mitchell had testified that they had had no intention of performing an operation upon Mrs. Colton, and that they were not discharged by Dr. Castell."

"Another thing stated in some of the press correspondence was that several suits had been instituted here in Washington against Mrs. Colton's estate; but the legal records show no evidence of this."

COMRADE MEMORIALIZED.

Kit Carson Post, G. A. R. Pays Tribute to Thomas H. Martin.

Kit Carson Post, No. 2, Grand Army of the Republic, held a memorial service Wednesday night to the memory of their late senior Vice Commander, Thomas H. Martin. Mr. Martin died suddenly in the parade given on the occasion of the annual national encampment of the G. A. R. in Minneapolis, Minn., August 15. He had always expressed a desire to die in the uniform of the country that he so bravely defended during the most critical period of its history.

After the opening prayer by the chaplain, Rev. C. W. Gallagher, an enlarged photograph of Mr. Martin, selected by a committee, was presented to the post and accepted by the department commander, R. P. Entriken. Addresses extolling the great loss to the post by the death of their esteemed late vice commander were made by Chief of Staff E. L. Holbrook, Department Commander R. P. Entriken, Junior Department Commander John S. Walker, and S. R. Stratton.

Mrs. Martin, the wife of the deceased, was present throughout the services.

Moss Seeks an Appeal.

John A. Moss, Jr., of this city, filed a petition in the District Supreme Court yesterday for a writ of certiorari, requesting Judge William H. De Laey, of the juvenile court, to certify to the higher tribunal all papers in the Moss case, charging him with being the father of a fourteen-year-old child, and failing to provide food or shelter for it. Moss claimed that he had been acquitted, and that his case was set for trial October 28.
